5. [] Met with Representative Richard Poff (R., Va.) regarding the Ervin bill rider to the House Civil Rights Commission bill. Poff explained that he would not be a conferee but he would give us all the help he could. He said the issue of "germaneness" may have been circumvented by the way in which the Senate attached their rider but this was a complicated parliamentary problem. I briefed him fully on the details of our concern and he was most sympathetic. He recommended that I take up the matter with Representative Edward Hutchinson (R., Mich.) who is expected to be a conferee. I left with Poff a package of material on the bill.

Later in the afternoon, Poff's office called to say that he had explained the situation to Hutchinson and arranged for me to see Hutchinson tomorrow morning at 10:00.

7. [] Met with Mr. Ralph Preston, House Appropriations Committee staff, who told me that Dr. Hall's, Assistant Secretary of Defense (Intelligence), office had delivered a paper to him today on the cost of tactical intelligence. Mr. Preston told me that the paper was totally unsatisfactory and that in effect was an explanation of why the Department cannot answer the Committee request.

8. [] Delivered to Mrs. Ruth Ziebarth, in the office of Representative Philip Crane (R., Ill.), copies of three China map folios which were requested through Mrs. Evelyn Scott, Congressional Liaison office, Department of Commerce. Mrs. Ziebarth apologized for the apparent problem that had been created at the Department of Commerce through the series of calls she had made on Representative Crane's behalf.

25X1 4. [] Met with Senator Milton Young whom I briefed on the latest developments regarding Soviet ICBM testing, new Soviet SAM system, innovation regarding a Soviet aircraft, Soviet withdrawals from Egypt, Soviet naval construction, and nuclear weapons storage in the Communist Bloc.

Turning to the situation in the Senate Appropriations Committee, Senator Young said he understood that Chairman McClellan would take over the Defense and Intelligence Subcommittees but did not want to make this public during his campaign for reelection. Young said McClellan was in some danger of being caught in a strong Republican sweep throughout the south, and there was some possibility that the White House would try to persuade his opponent to withdraw.

Senator Young said McClellan, who had not followed defense or intelligence matters closely, indicated he would rely on Young to "bring him up to speed." He said McClellan might make some changes on the staff by filling some existing vacancies but hoped Woodruff would remain. I said this would certainly be our hope in view of Woodruff's familiarity and continuity in connection with a couple of very important and sensitive projects. Young said he would point this out to McClellan.

Senator Young said McClellan would probably like an intelligence roundup briefing prior to mark up of the Defense Appropriations bill, probably within the next two or three weeks.

25X1 5. [] Talked to Mr. Pat Holt, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, in response to his call to Mr. Maury yesterday afternoon concerning use of computers for certain Committee programs. Mr. Holt told me that Mr. Tony Harley and Miss Marilyn Courtot, of the Rules Committee, are working with the staff on this project. One of them will call me later to set up a meeting probably late in the month. Mr. Charles Briggs, OPPB, has been advised.

25X1 6. [] Received a call from Mr. Charles Maneri, Environmental Protection Agency, who wanted verification for employment of [] who had requested certain information from their staff. He apologized for being so cautious. After I checked with [] and verified his association with the Agency, Mr. Maneri told me that his office would forward the requested reports as soon as possible.

3. [REDACTED] Pat Holt, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called to say they were trying to set up a computerized information storage and retrieval system and that two experts from the Rules Committee, which is the Senate body responsible in this area, were working with them. He said these two experts would like to consult someone familiar with the Agency's experience in such matters, since presumably the Agency had to handle somewhat the same variety of information available about foreign affairs that the Committee was interested in. I said I would try to find the proper person in the Agency and be back in touch. [REDACTED] is following up.
